Prestige function centre

Local construction company, Baseline Constructions Pty Ltd, has just completed a major development at 454 Burwood Road, Belmore.

Today Clarence House Function Centre bears no resemblance to its former identity and is now a state-of-the-art reception centre, a first for the area.

The development involves a total reconstruction of the old building to create a classic facade with sandstone entry, copper foiled windows, imposing grand foyer and modern facilities.

Clarence House boasts a comfortable seating capacity of 400, high tech sound system, stone lighting, parquet dance floor, and a magnificent new bar welcomes guests.

This major development for Baseline involved a number of interesting and varied challenges.

Managing director Nicholas Bettar said Baseline's experience to date has been mainly in commercial and residential developments and this was its first foray into the hospitality industry with its own peculiarities.

"The last six months has been a very interesting period for me.

"To completely transform an old gymnasium into a truly modern function centre was a challenging feat."

After the successful development of Clarence House, Baseline is now looking forward to further ventures for the hospitality industry.

Baseline's service includes full architectural drawings, interior design and engineering consultancy to offer a complete package to its clients.
